Comments

“ I have heard many wonderful stories about “Al”. All delightful. All told by a loving and devoted daughter. I’ve heard about trips to Target, about lawn mowers and lawn mowing, and what an amazing talent he possessed, working in stained glass. I know he started many sentences of reply with “Now gal...” I was privileged to briefly meet him one day in January 2017. He was just as I expected, and every bit the gentleman. It’s always nice to put a face with stories you hear. I am so glad to have met him.

Our Heavenly Father promises a time when those who are sleeping in death will awaken; we have the hope of being reunited with our loved ones! What a blessed day that will be!

Until that day comes, may the truth found in the Scriptures bring peace to both Julie and Michele, and may they find comfort in their precious memories of their Dad and of their Mom.

With Deepest Sympathy,
Diane
