“ I'm absolutely heartbroken that Dr. Peters is not with us anymore. She is my absolute favorite teacher, and I deeply regret for not expressing my love and respect to her enough. She was incredibly caring, passionate, and supportive towards her students. Seriously, there was no other teacher like Dr. Peters.

Dr. Peters is the first and only teacher I want to tell that I'm studying to be an elementary school teacher. You made an amazing impact towards my last two years of high school, and I'll make sure to think of you when I'm in my future classroom. Thank you Dr. Peters.

“ Dr. Peters was a really cool teacher. She loved science and was very passionate about it. Always beyond happy to explain anything to me that I didn't understand and always made sure I really understood before she was done explaining. Really nice lady and an awesome teacher. Sad to hear she is no longer with us :(May she Rest In Peace <3

“ Dr. Peters was one of my favorite teachers in high school. i didn't appreciate her love and passion for the environment as much as i should have when i was her student. now, as an adult, i constantly hope to be as passionate and caring towards people as she was. she not only helped me do well in her class but also care more about the environment and i can never repay her for that. rest in peace, Dr. Peters

“ I have known Dr Peters from my time working at Potomac Falls High School. First as a colleague, then as my 2 son's favorite science teacher ever. More recently, I worked in her classroom as a teaching assistant. One teaching method I will always remember- you need to change it up every 20 minutes. That is the attention span of a high school student. I now incorporate that into my own classroom. Rest In Peace Dr Peters, you will never be forgotten.

“ Dr. Peters was an exceptional teacher. I had the pleasure of being her student years ago and I enjoyed every single moment of it. She was so passionate and creative when it came to her work. I would always use to ask her endlessly for help as school was never one of my strong suits, but she didn't mind. She always helped me with her warm smile on her face, always encouraging me to be the best version of myself. My deepest condolences to the family and friends of Dr. Peters.

“ Dr. Peters was one of the sweetest and most patient teachers at Potomac Falls. Science was never my thing, but she really made me enjoy it. To this day I still remember the bug project she had us do. Such a kind and beautiful soul! She will be missed!

“ Jill was such a special person. I respected and admired her immensely in her work at Potomac Falls High School. I was honored to assist by supporting a student in one of her classes many years ago and enjoyed getting to know her then. She had a great passion for teaching and conveying her love for the natural world to her students. She has left a legacy at PFHS. I still miss seeing her there. With love, Leighton Krips

“ Dr. Peters was such a positive light at Potomac Falls High School! She is known for her passion for teaching environmental science, her infamous "bug project" and other hands-on learning activities that engaged students. She was always fair, consistent and coming from a genuine place --students, staff and parents always felt that. I will miss her for her love -- she brought in organic vegetables from her garden to share with staff and also ran our Secret Snowman exchange for many years. She came by often to tell me about home improvement projects that she was really excited about and appreciative of...and also to touch base on how life was going for both of us. I loved serving on interview panels with her because she made things light hearted while also being sure we secured the absolute best for our school! When Jill retired from PFHS, she gave me a pin that I still wear with pride. I truly love you, Dr. Peters, and am so blessed to have known you and grown from you in my life.
