“ Bart was a great guy, was always there for someone that needed help. I remember when I adopted two ducks and stopped by his house to chat with him and Dawn. He was all about those ducks. He ran inside to get them some bread to feed them. Let me tell you he even got down on the ground to feed them through the carrier I had them in . He definitely loved animals he had a heart of gold . I don't think he had a mean bone in his body. Oh and let me tell you that man knows how to cook a steak . His steaks are money he should've been a chef. Rest well my friend I'm sure we will see each other again in the next life.

“ Bart was quite the craftsman when he rebuilt our front porch on our 200 year old house in White Post several years ago. So much attention given to detail and precision, it was a treat for us to sit back and watch him in action! We loved to hear him giggle when things went together just right. He was kind and considerate and we thought of him as a good friend. His love of animals was foremost. We hadn't seen him in a couple of years, but will miss him. Condolences to Dawn and Bart's family. R.I.P. Bart.

“ I also only knew Bart through videos about fosters that they had in their home. He was a man any dog learned to love and trust. He supported his wife in her own business as well and in turn empowered her to help other woman start their own as well. Hugs to your family and friends and prayers.

“ Bart was so sweet and kind. I met Bart when I worked at Lone Oak Tavern. He even worried about me being at bar by myself late night that he built me a beautiful wooden baseball bat. I kept that bat behind the bar for the entire time I worked there. Bart carved on it “Kelly’s Boom Boom Stick” I haven’t seen him in years since we moved to Florida but he will always carry a piece of my heart. He was just an amazing friend.

“ I was so fortunate to have Bart as my cousin and as a great friend growing up. We lived close enough to each other that we could ride bikes to each other's houses for play days. I'll never forget playing in the stream in his backyard, riding our bikes to get snowballs, and stealing Pop's Pabst Blue Ribbon from the downstairs 1940's era GE refrigerator at family gatherings when we were teenagers. We would sneak one or two out the basement window and sit under the willow tree while everyone was inside playing in the basement. It was his idea, but I liked it.)

So many great memories. You will be missed my friend. Until we see you again...

“ When I think of Bart, I think of a quiet, dear, KIND, soul. So, it is not surprising to hear of his interest and commitment to helping with rescue animals. I saw him as a person with a quiet demeanor, with a heck of a lot of feeling behind his eyes. I thought of him as a person who had a strong sense of family and loyalty to family, which is evident in the name of his carpentry and wood working business, “Made To Meier Standards”. Like his father, he had SO MANY talents! I am sure they are back to making magic, again. My heart goes out, tenfold, to Dawn, Aunt Ann, Bill (and family), and Kelly!! LOVE to All of You!!

He was such a kind quite soul. I remember hearing about all the many many hours he would take time out to go walking with his dad - so patiently -while his dad was fighting his illness and felt it a necessity to stop frequently and gather even the tiniest of the fallen tree branches. He was a master dog whisperer! An amazingly draftsman and carpenter . A quietly funny deliverer of zingers and will be missed for his kindness and gentle soul .

Bart, my little cousin, has always been so sweet and kind and sensitive to people's feelings. He has always been nice to talk to with deep feelings and a quiet, great sense of humor with "to the point" one liners. I will miss him. Just a nice quiet guy. I am glad to have known him since he was born and happy he was here. The BAKER BASH picture dancing with his sister says it all! Sweet, kind, sensitive Bart -- we will love you forever!

I met Bart in the mid nineties, he was working with Jay and started hanging out down at T Jeffreys and we soon had a group with John Champion, Chuck Stern, Jennifer McLean myself and a rotating cast of friends. In the years that followed we had a blast playing darts ,going to Oriole games,ravens games concerts, river rafting skiing at snowshoe and my favorite vacations in the outer banks. Through it all I could count on Bart to participate in my stupid humor always ready with his goofy laugh, whether it was funny or not. The last few days have been tough as I come to grips with the passing of a wonderful friend. You will be remembered with love and humor for a long time you goofball.
