“ My son is continuously affected by this horrible tragedy on a daily basis. Which includes therapy, medication, and severe depression. As parents who have known her forever, we as well can't understand this. My main concern is for Karen. I pray daily for for her well being. Time helps but never heals. Nothing will ever be the same, but know we are here for you and your family. We love you. Jennifer Boyer

“ So so sad. She was so young and beautiful, the amazing things that Gwynn could have done with her life. Gwynn is in the hands of Angels now, know one can ever hurt her again. God needed Gwynn for a very important job, we may never know what it is but you can be comfortable in knowing she is with God. Gwynn you have your wings now.
