“ Too many memories throughout the years to even start. Andy was always a good funny soul and a good friend since our middle school years. Kevin always considered him one of his best friends and even though time passes when we get older and we dont often see each other much, love was always there when we did run into each other. Hold each other close as tomorrow is not promised. May Andy be at peace and we thank you for the times we had together. To Andys family including Britney and hers, much love and prayers for better days. He will truly be missed.

“ I'll never forget the 1st time I met Andy. He was a different kind of breed of person- the kind they don't make too often anymore! I was a family friend for about a decade but met Andy through his close friend & family member Pete N. He was always the life of the party & brought so much laughter & good energy to every room he entered. He will be missed by many, Rest in Peace.
