“ Terry and I texted for a time not too long before he passed and I'm so glad we did or I never would have gotten to know such a great guy. He Loved being with family and friends, loved loved Kendall ! He was and still is a force in all our lives. It's just so sad that we all had to lose him so soon. He's an angel now watching over us all. Esp those Roblee boys ! My heart and prayers go out to everyone.

“ Terry allowed me to stay in his home and to be a part of his family for the last 7 to 8 months he was the sweetest man I ever known treating me like his daughter and I'm forever grateful for that. I will always remember us going down to the circle and us. Having our little smoke sesh and listening to chill bump, blasting it while you're doing circles in the middle of the road, I love you so much hope you're watching a bunch of looney tunes.

“ Terry introduced me to my former husband. We were good friends for quite some time. I heard several funny stories from my husband at the time, and his closest friends. I remember Terry's sense of humor and how he made me cackle laughing. We shared meals, memories, and fun times with one another. Terry was also a big comfort. He was big and strong. My fondest memory was him picking me up and carrying me around the house like his little sister. He had my back and would always protect me. I will be sad knowing he is no longer with us in body. However, his spirit and memory will always be with us. His fiance, Kendall, my heart goes out too. I know he was close to a perfect caregiver and his best friend. I will see you again my friend.

“ I have known Terry since him and Kendell began dating. He was always so sweet and funny and our kids absolutely adore him more than anything. He's has watched our kids grow up and been the best adopted "uncle" too our kids. His presence is missed beyond words his mile would light up the room. I could always count on his jokes to make me laugh even when I was struggling.

“Where do I begin....

I remember the night I met you, we had passed each other on north loudon and Fairfax lane. You were in your silver Mustang with that black vinyl top with those chrome directional wheels and I was in my red Mustang convertible. You had honked the horn and I never acknowledged it because I didn't know ya. You followed me through town as if we were in a high speed pursuit, only to end up in Safeway parking lot, lol. I jumped out to see what the issue was and you had that big ole grin on your face and said "nice car man, my name is Terry". From that night on we were buds, meeting in town every Friday night which turned into every other night. I found it weird, all my friends knew you and I was the last to know you out of our bunch. So many things we did together with our friends, lol, thank god we never got hemmed up from all of it. I remember the day your black van broke down in my mom and dad's driveway, lmao, you were so petrified that my dad was mad at ya. That thing spent a week there, if my brain is working right. My mom and dad met you when came to pick it up and mom liked you from the get go, dad wasn't a man of many words back then, but I think he didn't have a problem with you. It was the night at your moms house for the Super Bowl when he had a problem with you and I, lol. I took his s-10 and wasn't supposed to to your moms house to watch the Super Bowl and when it was over you backed into the passenger side of it, boy if that wasn't a long winter for me. He took me to school everyday in that thing with the plastic over the window, on my side at that, lmao. I could go on and on with so many great memories while hanging out with you. I hope you knew that I truly cherished our friendship, it may not have seemed like it, but I did. Between my crazy work schedules and having a family with kids to raise took most of my time away from a lot of things. I'll miss ya buddy, I'll miss the shenanigan tik toks you'd send me, lol. Most of all though, the good lord just hasn't made friends like the one you were and I'll definitely miss that. Fly high my friend, have that IRoc ready when I get there, my mustang will be ready to cruise those streets of heaven. 🥺🥺

“ Terry was the nicest guy! I remember him coming into our shop and saying spanky I need my engine rebuilt in my IROC and you know what your doing please help! So spank & Terry started brain storming on which way to go with the car and the fastest way to get back on the street. Every Friday and Saturday night in the food lion parking lot or burger king parking lot is were you would find them setting and sporting there classic cars. Driving up and down valley Ave was there thing. Terry and spank had there little car club including there friends. God how i miss them days! Terry I hope your up in heaven just tearing up them streets! Until we meet again my friend. I will keep spanky Monte Carlo at a bare minimum speed.

“ I met Terry and Kendall through collecting die cast. 2 of the best, honest caring pe8ive ever dealt with. Every once and a while I would go down to visit and conversate. This past Xmas I did a secret Santa for a few guys that are in my small group. I was honored that Terry got my name. I'll always remember him as happy go lucky and of high spirits. I'll miss him for sure. Rest Easy Brother

“ Terry was my friend for almost 30 years. I was a teenager when we met. Terry taught me people are people, no matter who they love, we can all be friends. And friends we were. Long nites talking. Laughing. Waiting for him to get off work from Quick Stop or Long John's so we can go drive around Winchester. Riding with him on spur of the moment trips to upstate New York to see his Dad and Grandma. Helping with the paper routes. Sitting with him at nite after his accident, lighting his cigarettes, cracking open his Pepsi. Bonfires. Cookouts. Just watching TV.

Terry loved his family. His cats. His cars (especially that I-Roc). His friends. And Pepsi.

Terry, you were a good friend. I miss you already and I'm gonna miss you for a very very long time. I love you, Brother. Until we meet again, old friend.
